6. [redacted] Met with Dorothy Fosdick and Robert Tufts of the Senate Government Operations Subcommittee on National Security Methods to discuss their proposed trip. Miss Fosdick indicated that Senator Jackson asked them to be in touch with the Agency to get some possible background briefings. The purpose of their trip is to observe at firsthand and secure briefings in connection with the new Subcommittee which Senator Jackson heads which will start hearings next year on the subject of effective administration for national security. They will be concerned with staffing and training of individuals for the conduct of national security policy. In the field they will look into the role of the Ambassador and the interplay of the various agencies. They will, of course, study the procedural aspects of the country-team concept. In the calls to the field it is clearly pointed out that they are not to be concerned with the substantive aspects of policy but rather the procedure and staffing.
